Oriental Poppies

Oriental Poppies, with their brilliant gigantic blooms, are among the very finest perennials for the garden, particularly now that soft pastel tints are available. They are the softest pink to deep red and white. They are easily grown and once established will bloom for many years. The best time to plant them is September and October. Poppies should be planted in the general run of perennials. Set the crowns approximately 2 inches below the level of the ground. Mulch the first winter after planting, with excelsior, pine branches, or other material of similar nature. This mulch should not be applied until the ground is frozen, possibly November to December, depending on the locality. The plants offered here are strong, field-grown specimens and should bloom satisfactorily next year. Order now.
